Council Meeting

The regular meeting of the Blairmore council was held last night, the mayor and councillors Dutil, Putnam, Beebe and Bartlett being present.

The minutes of previous meeting were approved, and the following accounts were passed: F. M. Thompson Co. $2.90, Enrico Pozzi $12.50, Rocky Mountain Cement Co. $59.80, Alberta Government Telephone 85c.

Councillor Putnam introduced a by-law to amend license by-law No. 7, which was on motion read a first time.

Putnam-Dutil — That the mayor and secretary-treasurer be authorized to make the necessary statutory declaration in connection with the tax enforcement return, to accompany application for title, carried.

Down in Nova Scotia it is now necessary to appeal to local councils and the government for funds to aid in the prosecution of the campaign against illicit liquor traffic. In one town the council has already been asked to contribute two thousand dollars.

The instructions issued recently by the department of the interior to agents and sub agents of Dominion lands that no applications for patents were to be accepted unless the applicant and both witnesses were present at the same time has been withdrawn and the old rules are again in force.

The department of natural resources of the Canadian Pacific railway looks for a wheat crop of about 250,000,000 bushels in the northwest. There are over 150,000 cars ready to undertake the transportation of this great crop to the east. In certain districts of Saskatchewan the expectation is for one hundred bushels of oats to the acre.

Hoopla! The newspapers have taken to advocating compulsory marriage. Get married or go to war is the way they would have it and the poor guy that can't find a maiden who will consider him will have to fight the Huns. "Tie or not tie, that is the question." "All is fair in love and war." In either case he will have to do considerable fighting. Some of our bravest have chosen the former.

Major Morfit, second in command of the 82nd Battalion, is now at Macleod looking for recruits for his regiment. This Battalion consists of Alberta's best citizens and he is anxious that The Press should do its part in sending again the quote. It may be said that the officer commanding the 82nd in Lieut. Col Lowery, the hero of St. Julien. After Saturday night, Major Morfit will be in Lethbridge the whole of next week. Any information required can be had of Capt. Beebe or W. Joyce at the town office, Blairmore.

Reference was made in our columns recently to the fact that Alexander Emery had enlisted for overseas service at Frank, Alta. We have since learned that it is Alexander Emery, Westville, who enlisted. He is the father of George Emery, now at the front, and of Irving Emery who is a prisoner of war in Germany. Another son Charles is engaged in home defense work at Halifax, whilst a fourth son, John, enlisted at Calgary in same regiment as his father. This Westville family has therefore contributed a father and four sons to the defence of our Empire, a record of which they have every reason to be proud. When we say that the people of Westville are proud of what they have done we state the case mildly. All honor to Alex. Emery and his brave sons! — Westville Free Lance

Cowley Happenings

J. M. Easterbrook has purchased an auto.

R. Welsh has set up a new threshing machine.

Mr. Joyce, of Dry Fork, is again at the elevator looking after the grain.

Mrs. F. H. Prier, and her daughter Minnie, of Creston, are visiting friends here.

Gordon and Burton Robinson have returned for another while to assist at harvesting.

Mr. Bartlett, of The Enterprise, was a visitor here on Monday, enroute to Pincher Creek.

Mrs. Marlow, of Macleod, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Welsh, on Sunday last.

Roy Beebe, of Oregon, is spending some time with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bowerman.

Mrs. Freeman went to Pincher Creek to visit her mother, Mrs. Carney, who is at the hospital, and reports her condition favorable.

We are pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark back again. They have moved back on the ranch after a sojourn in Pincher Creek.

Wilfred Welsh and Miss May Eastbrook, left on Monday for Edmonton, where they enter Alberta College for the winter. R. Easterbrook intends going later.

Capt. Acton and his assistant, of the Salvation Army, Coleman, were canvassing the country in and around Cowley for donations for their harvest festival, which was to take place at Coleman Sept. 18 to 21.

The team of the threshing machine on all sides now, and if the snow stays away and the weather is favorable for a few weeks longer one of the greatest harvests that the west has yet experienced will be garnered.

Mr. VanDusen, manager of the Union Bank here for a number of years, is taking his leave of absence. Mr. E. MacDonald has replaced him here. Mr. VanDusen was very popular and will be greatly missed here.

The time is drawing nigh for the Red Cross dance to be given by the Women's Institute. A big crowd is anticipated, for much money is needed to carry on the work. Don't forget the date—Friday, October 1st, in the Cowley hall.

Miss L. Biggar has returned home after spending a week out at the South Fork with the campers. She says she did not catch "a fish." We are sorry, "Aunt Lou," but maybe you went too far away to get the suckers, or perhaps you don't offer the right kind of bait. You had better ask "V."

The women of Alberta are surely leading the way, but it is just so surely right that women should have votes, for who should know better than the women what is best for their home and dear ones. They will surely use that privilege wisely. Alberta is the first province to grant "votes for women," and the first to pass a prohibitory law. We are progressing, and the women of Alberta should feel justly proud and should ever endeavor to use their vote wisely and just for education and good morals.

When you pull down the town in which is your home, you are pulling down yourself, and when you build you are building up yourself and your neighbor. Try and banish from your mind the mistaken idea that all good things are away off in some other locality. Give your town all the praise it can legitimately bear, it will cost you nothing, and above all patronize your home institutions, including the printing office.

Prospects Bright For School of Agriculture

Already over one hundred students have made application for admission to the School of Agriculture at Clarendon for the term 1915-16.

The school opens on November 2nd. Present indications are that the school will be filled beyond its capacity. The new Livestock and Agronomy building is about completed, making it possible to accommodate approximately one hundred and seventy-five students in the future.

The following additions have been made to the staff: Mr. Herbert W. Scott, B.S.A., Lecturer in Livestock.

Mr. A. E. Quilly, B.S.A., Instructor in Farm Mechanics.

Students wishing to attend the classes in Agriculture and Domestic Science should make application at once to the principal.

The corner stone of the new Mormon temple at Cardston was laid on Sunday last.

Once more Pincher Creek can see the spur line coming in.

Exhibition of Soil Products

In Connection With Western Canada Irrigation Convention

The exhibition of soil products, from irrigated and non-irrigated land, to be held in connection with the Western Canada Irrigation convention at Banff on Nov. 23, 24 and 25, promises to attract a large number of exhibitors.

All exhibits must have been grown or produced in Western Canada, and the exhibitor himself during the season of 1915. Entries must be made with R. A. Traving, secretary, or R. T. Gray, chairman, exhibit committee, local board of control, Banff, not later than November 22nd. No entry fee required.

Raising Angoras

Angora Goats Said to Do Well in This Country and Prove Profitable

Most parts of Canada where live stock production prevails are ripe for the raising of Angoras, especially if the land is high and dry the greater part of the year. They will withstand the rigor of even the coldest winter and need no special shelter other than a shed to protect them from wind and storm, providing a sufficient quantity of nutritious food and pure water are supplied. The Angora goat performs a two-fold service in the Canadian scheme of farming. It produces a high grade of mohair and at the same time may be used for the destruction of undergrowth on lands to be broken for subsequent cultivation.

The value of the Angora goat is further emphasized by the accompanying paragraphs of pamphlet No. 12 of the Sheep and Goat Division of the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Reg. Arkell, B.S.A., B.S.C., and Horace V. Bent, B.S., that can be had at no cost whatever by application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The pamphlet gives a brief sketch of the origin and history of the Angora goat, and also contains a list of the countries in which it is raised.

It is pointed out that the Angora goat is not as well known in Canada as desirable. Mohair, of which Turkey, in time of peace, supplies 10,000,000 lbs. annually, South Africa, 15,000,000 lbs. and the rest of the world 6,000,000 lbs. is the technical name for the hair of the Angora goat. The word is derived from the French "mohair" and, primarily, from the Arabic "mukhayyar," meaning mohair cloth.

With this vast field of information about this particularly useful goat, is furnished in the pamphlet under the heading of "Breeding and Raising," set forth with details of market possibilities of shearing, and methods of preparing for shipment. Extracts from letters written by successful breeders in Canada, and the United States telling of their experience are also included. The pamphlet also contains the complaints to which the animals are occasionally subject, with advice as to prevention. Illustrations of types and the fleeces carried at various ages lend interest, expression and interest to the pamphlet.

Enormous Figures

The Hardware Review mentions some figures in connection with the American automobile industry that will startle people and make them ponder over the fact that people are wonderfully resourceful in getting hold of money when money is required for a special purpose.

On June 1 of the current year the number of motor cars in the United States was 1,100,000. To run these cars it is estimated that at least 1,000,000 gallons of gasoline are required, worth $15,000,000; 20,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil, worth $3,000,000; 12,000,000 tires, worth not less than $10,000,000; and extra costs and extras amounting to $10,000,000. These estimates would make the total running expense of the cars in use $37,000,000. Add to this the value of the 600,000 new cars bought during the year at an average price of $750, and you have the vast total of $1,180,000,000 spent in the automobile industry.

Figures for Canada are not at hand, but by a comparison of population, and a slight percentage reduction in the number of automobiles in use on this side of the line a fairly accurate estimate may be made.

The industry is still in the growing stage.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Harvesting Grain

Select the best part of the grain area for seed and allow it to ripen thoroughly. Where there is a large acreage of grain the remainder may be cut a little on the green side. The straw is better for feeding purposes and very little of the grain will be lost by shelling.

Stock well, making each pair of sheaves support the other. Do not place too many sheaves in a stack, and have the rows straight and even. They not only give the stack a better appearance but also make the work of loading easier for the team.

When possible, thresh direct from the stack—it is more economical and reduces the loss of seed.

Straw can be stored under cover and used as a mulch in this way.—Canadian Cattleman.

The kindly chemist stood behind the counter gazing benignly at the chubby youngster over the bottles.

"What's the matter, boy?" "I want a bottle of your pills you sold my father the day before yesterday."

"Certainly," replied the chemist, smiling. "I hope they are doing him good."

"Dunno, if they're doing him good," replied the youngster, "but they are giving my new air gun a right."

Higgs—Crooke is a criminal lawyer, isn't he?

Diggs—He's a lawyer, but as to his being criminal, I think he's too careful to quite overstep the line.

Transactions That Satisfy

By A. P. Marshall, Niagara Falls, Canada

The above is what the good breeder is trying to make with every sale and the buyer hopes to get every value he makes. It is true in every line of trade as well as that of disposing of poultry and failure to complete them in a way that meets the satisfaction of all is due to the same causes whether in poultry or some other commodity.

For one who is endeavoring to build up a business and who realizes what will help most in doing so every effort will be made to make all transactions as satisfactory as possible.

Whether it be in the sale of eating eggs, fowls for eating on exhibition and breeding stock the same is true with regard to the value of having the purchaser well satisfied. Many times this alone will influence a breeder to put in something extra or give quality that he honestly feels is worth more than the price demanded so as to get a greater satisfaction for the purchaser.

Even then the difficulty of making every sale a success is not always exceedingly well placed is one that is having the very closest study of all breeders. Generally speaking, of course, the quality of the article produced will determine to a large extent the satisfaction it will give on the average. However, there are other elements that may mar the possibility of a sale. The complete satisfaction of both parties will be the result.

So often the buyer and the seller may not fully understand each other so that the wishes of the purchaser are not fully comprehended by the seller. Consequently when the bird arrives, although of first-class quality, it may not be quite different to what the purchaser pictured or looked forward to receiving. The fact that a bird may or may not win at some show does not for a moment determine the quality, although in the short time it would take to do with the satisfaction of some purchaser, it might be a matter of life and death to many buyers with better birds that have not won have been less than the mightiest of the world.

The breeder, therefore, must allow for some of the peculiarities of human nature, must appreciate that it may not always be a case of the biggest bird winning, but the one that is the most perfect in its nature, and whether the buyer is at fault in his judgment or not, the good breeder will not allow the kind of satisfaction makes the customer feel certain the breeder is working in his interest as well as his own. The idea that advertising is exaggerated is good and that without exaggeration good results are impossible has long ago been exploded and more and more are all classes of advertisers coming to see that the more exact and accurately statements are made the more lasting are the results likely to be.

If the breeder can produce his stock to the satisfaction of his neighbor and will sell to the community, if he can successfully let it be known just what he can supply better than the rest, he can supply the country, and if he can supply a superior product at a fair price, business will increase by the reports from satisfied customers and those who learn from them where satisfaction can be secured.

CACIOT A BAD COLO.

"Last winter my son caught a very bad cold and the way he coughed was something dreadful," writes Mrs. Sarah E. Duncan, of Tipton, Iowa. We thought sure he was going into consumption. We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that one bottle stopped his cough and cured his cold completely." For sale by all dealers.

Manitoba will vote on prohibition next March.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others of it I gave it to," writes M. E. Gehart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Advertise Your Business

Don't imagine for a moment that advertising will not bring you results in your immediate field. That's an error that many merchants make, when they assure themselves that their store is so well known that it doesn't require newspaper advertising—that the trade will naturally come his way, anyhow. There isn't a store anywhere in the world that has so secure a footing as that—not a single store—and you are not doing business in a field but that your sales can be increased by careful newspaper advertising. If this is not true, why is it that a stream of mail orders is constantly going out of your town to catalogue houses? And are not these sales made by these catalogue houses the result of persistent advertising in the very field that you have cultivated to the limit? Whenever you get such an idea fixed in your mind, and really believe that there's nothing more to conquer, you are simply turning over ready money to the man that does possess the broader vision—you are ceding the territory and rights to others that careful newspaper advertising would retain in your possession.

"On the Field of Honor"

The publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, are making a strong bid for that beautiful picture, full of pathos, entitled "On the Field of Honor." It is assumed the publishers of The Family Herald have in mind using it as a prominent plate. If that is so there is a great treat in store for readers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star this autumn. In past years The Family Herald of Montreal has been noted not only for the wonderful excellence of that journal but for many beautiful pictures it has presented to its readers. The Family Herald has a name for accepting in anything it undertakes, and we feel sure if it is immediately possible to secure "On the Field of Honor" that the publishers will succeed in getting it. "On the Field of Honor" is attracting widespread attention in Europe.

Winnipeg "Post" Hits Albertans

Of all the hair-brained schemes that have been advanced in this world which have originated in Alberta, to the British Government, or both, take over the whole Canadian wheat crop at a fixed price, so that the farmer will be sure of reaping a rich harvest at the expense of the British and Canadian consumers.

When I first heard it rumored that this plan was being advocated, I thought it originated in the "land of the living practical joke"—but when I read of Western boards of trade seriously taking it up and boasting it, I was forced to the conclusion that Western business men, instead of being jokers, had really lost all sense of humor.

Imagine any government being mad enough to set the precedent of purchasing any crop at a fixed price in order that the law of supply and demand might be obliterated. The thing is too foolish for serious discussion. If a government once fell in with such a preposterous idea, no government would ever be able to get out of the practice. If the wheat crop were to be nationalized it would be perfectly logical to nationalize the potato crop. Then, when the market would be overstocked with cattle, sheep, and swine, the government would have to nationalize those industries. When our manufacturers became overstocked and could not sell their output at satisfactory prices they would insist on the government taking over their goods at fixed and profitable prices. Thus we should have that delightful absurd condition known as socialism before we knew it. Any thing might be manufactured in any sleepy old way and still command fancy prices in the fixed market. There would be no incentive for a farmer to use any discrimination in selecting his crops or any care in growing them. Clean or dirty they would be saleable in the one fixed market. There would be no object in doing good work, because bad work would be just as profitable. True, our stuff would not be saleable in foreign countries—but that would not bother our socialists. Our government would buy it—and of course our advocate of socialism never stops to think that our government is ourselves, and that our government could only buy from individuals by using the money that it could obtain for our goods in foreign markets. Western boards of trade have never had a reputation for good sense. Their latest bid makes it almost impossible to hope that they ever will have.—Winnipeg Post.

The Roll Call

A Song for Canadian Soldiers and Others.

This song has made a hit with the boys in the training camps and at the front. As a part of his hit Mr. Hezlevood had 15,000 copies printed and given away, mainly through the Y.M.C.A. workers. One Toronto soldier picked up a typewritten copy on Hill 60 ("somewhere in France"), after the battle, and brought it back home, not knowing it was a Toronto product. Mr. Hezlevood fears that one of his army school boys, to whom he had given a copy, met with misfortune on that occasion. The song is reproduced by special permission.
Tune—"When the roll is called up yonder."

(Wants by O. Hezlevood, Toronto, with apologies to author of original.)
When my King and Country call me and
I'm wanted at the front,
Where the shrapnel shells are bursting in the air;
When the foe in fury charges and we're compelled to leave our ground,
And the roll is called for service,—"I'll be there!"

Chorus—"When the roll, etc.
When the Kaiser's lines are broken and his armies out of France,
When the Belgian desolation we repair;
When the final murrers are ordered and the battle sound "Advance,"
May the God of Battles help me to be there.

When the Allies march through Prussia with the foe in full retreat
"That our hearts be kept from hatred" is our prayer;
When the right of night is ended in a day,
And the roll is called in Berlin,—"I'll be there!"

When the "Last Post" is sounded and I cross the Silent Ford,
I've a Pilot who of "mine fields" will beware;
When "Reverend" sounds in Heaven and the armies of the Lord,
Sing the Hallelujah chorus,—"I'll be there."

The following is the way in which the Coleman Bulletin chooses to speak of the entertainment given to the Canadian for the benefit of the Calgary News-Telegram Wounded Soldiers' Fund:

The war (?) pictures put on at the opera house on the 9th inst. under the auspices of a Calgary dalliance "Wounded Soldiers' Benefit" was about the worst since that has ever been perpetrated on a patriotic community. They were hardly what one would call "war" pictures, and the same blues were shown at another picture house in Calgary a year ago. Much usage had rendered them indistinct and "dull" in more ways than one. As for the Saxophone quartet, the singing of the "Soldiers of the King" was one of the most tasteless songs they attempted to sing. The audience did not seem to think it worth the price of admission. Cosmopolitans as a rule are patriotic to the core and will patronize anything if by so doing they can contribute anything to the welfare of the boys at the front, but the show last Thursday evening was a little too much for the patience of many. Both the management of the opera house and the editor of this paper are sorry they were never personally connected with the enterprise.

Such an attack is certainly uncalled for. As for the pictures, some of them may have been seen in Coleman before, but not near of the same quality. The Saxophone quartet was composed of business men of Calgary, who were not out for fattening their own coffers, but were giving their time and their talent gratuitously for a noble cause, drawing from the proceeds of their entertainment only sufficient to meet their travelling expenses. Besides, they were ever willing and ready to assist the local branches of the Red Cross Society or the Patriotic Fund in any way possible.

Woman Suffrage

The political emancipation of the women of Alberta with all that that expression conveys insofar as the election of members of the legislature is concerned is the latest announcement of Premier Sifton. The whole record of Alberta's progressive premier since his assuming office a little over five years ago shows his government in the vanguard among governments within the British Empire in the matter of advanced legislation. No other government in Canada has even approximated that of Alberta in keeping in close touch with the people and in correctly interpreting the aspirations of a progressive democracy. At the coming session of the legislature Mr. Sifton will introduce a bill which will place women on an exact equality with men insofar as voting is concerned. Every woman who is twenty-one years of age, a British subject, a resident of the province for one year, and of the riding in which she proposes to vote for three months will have the right to a ballot.

Without the blare of trumpets or the seeking of some dramatic situation in which to enunciate his new policy, Mr. Sifton, true to his record for businesslike administration, quietly announces that the time has come to give the women the franchise and announces the fact in the
